"GTECH: Staying Ahead of the Game through Global e-Learning"

Program Description:

You know GTECH as the global company headquartered in Rhode Island that provides integrated technology, creative content, and business services to effectively manage and grow today's evolving gaming markets. Did you also know that their recent acquisition by Lottomatica will create one of the world's leading gaming solutions providers, with significant global market presence and the broadest portfolio of lottery technology, services, and content solutions in the world? The combined company will have operations in over 50 countries worldwide and approximately 6,300 employees!

Can you imagine the challenges of training such a global, diverse workforce, including customers? The good news is that GTECH is also one of the leading innovators in e-learning. Come and see what they are doing!
